Greetings from the East

Brethren, thank you for the honor and privilege of being the Master of Zephyr Lodge for 2014. I hereby give my solemn promise to perform this duty with honor and diligence.

I have one goal for 2014 -- to continue the growth of Zephyr Lodge. This not only includes increasing membership, but increasing the Crafts knowledge base. It is time for the "youth" to learn to "grab the horns" of the lodge. We, at Zephyr Lodge, have a great advantage. We have several Past Masters and senior lodge members who have made it work. We must learn from them if we are to continue. One person cannot perform this task alone. As the great Vince Lombardi once said, "There is no / in team."

This year I am forming a new committee, Training Development, with the assistance of Past Master Bill Clark. This committee's sole purpose is for the development of lodge leadership and degree work. If anyone is interested in such training, please contact either Bill or myself. You do not have to be a line officer to be involved in this training.

You all know our motto "We take good men and make them better." If you know this man, please invite him to call our Secretary about joining Zephyr lodge. We must act today to preserve tomorrow.

Fraternally,
Bob Benner

A POEM

Brethren,

I found this poem and thought it very fitting for the New Year...

A New Year! A New Day! A New Life!

Not only on New Year's
But all the year through
God gives us a chance to begin life anew,
For each day at dawning we have but to pray
That all the mistakes that we made yesterday
Will be blotted out and forgiven by grace,
For God in His love will completely efface
All that is past and He'll grant a new start
To all who are truly repentant at heart.
And well may man pause in awesome-like wonder
That our Father in heaven
Who dwells far asunder
Could still remain willing to freely forgive
The shabby, small lives we so selfishly live
And still would be mindful of sin-ridden man
Who constantly goes on defying God's plan—
But this is the gift
Of God's limitless love,
A gift that we all are so unworthy of,
But God gave it to us and all we need do
Is to ask God's forgiveness and begin life anew.

Helen Steiner Rice

Wishing you and your loved ones a most Healthy, Happy and Prosperous New Year!

Fraternaly yours,
Bob Benner

Greetings from the West

Dear Brethren, as we embark on a new year, I look forward to working with all of our newly elected officers and new Worshipful Master Bob Benner. I believe Bob's leadership and loyalty to the craft will help to open a "new light" that this board will strive to shine! We have a lot to look forward to with a lot of the officers in the line at this time. New beginnings, new ideas and of course, the events we have in place, will help us launch a new outlook for the coming years! Our past has been what carried us into the present, our predecessors have blazed a path and it will allow us to maintain the high standards we have as Masons as well as members of Zephyr Lodge No. 198.

Thank you for entrusting me with the duties of Senior Warden of our lodge. I look forward to executing my duties with the utmost standard of professionalism and sense of pride. ONWARD MY BROTHERS into our new year!

Fraternally Yours,
David L. Budai Jr.
Senior Warden

Greetings from the South

My fellow brothers,

Firstly, I want to thank you all for electing me to the South. It is with great pleasure and humility that I start this year in service to our Lodge. I hope we can all work together to make 2014 a great year for Zephyr Lodge 198 and that we can grow both our numbers and the quality of our fellowship.

As Junior Warden, I am now on several committees and am available for any brother that needs me to help them. I am on the Vigilance Committee so if you need guidance on matters of morality or just an ear to listen to your concerns I am here and you can call me at 813-486-3160 or email me at marcus@goinpostal.com. As the chairman of Masonic Education, I am now responsible for the short talks at each meeting and for organizing Masonic Leadership Training so if you need all of your classes to earn your MLT pin and certificate or just a few individual lessons sections to get finished up, let me know and I will arrange an MLT class here at the lodge. I will keep everyone up to date about the first class.

Our big fundraiser before our Northern friends leave for the summer is our spring pig roast and I will have tickets available for distribution as soon as they are printed. Holding a pig roast twice yearly is how we pay for most of the upkeep requirements for our Lodge property. From insurance to utilities and from plumbing to termite treatments it costs many thousands of dollars a year to run our lodge and we need everyone's help to make our fundraisers a success. Please think of who you know that would enjoy our fantastic pig roast and either ask them if they would buy a ticket or maybe even buy a ticket for them as a gift. I know a lot of brothers that purchase 10 tickets and give them as gifts to less fortunate members of our community which is a fantastic way to spread brotherly love and friendship to our neighbors.

Again brothers, thank you for the trust you have placed in me and I look forward to a great year working with you all.

By the Plumb,
Marcus Price, Jr. Warden

Inside the Secret World of the Freemasons

(CBS News) The Square and Compasses are among the traditional tools of stonemasons. They also form the symbol of a group that has been misunderstood and even maligned for many centuries. This morning, Mo Rocca takes us inside:

It's the world's most well-known secret society. Rich with symbols and ritual, it's the source of legends . . . parodies . . . and conspiracy theories.

Welcome to the world of Freemasonry.

True or false? The Masons are a secret society. "No. That's false," said UCLA history professor Margaret Jacob, one of the world's leading experts on Freemasonry.

True or false? Freemasonry is a religion. No, said Jacob.

True or false? Masons were behind the American Revolution. "False, false, false," she said.

"Okay, but what about on the dollar bill? The eye and pyramid?" asked Rocca.

"Oh, yeah, the eye, yeah," said Jacob. "Everybody says it's Masonic. In fact, it's commonplace in the 18th century, that particular set of symbols."

True! Freemasons laid the cornerstone of America -- well, at least some of its most iconic structures, like the National Cathedral in Washington and the Statue of Liberty.

9 things you didn't know about Freemasonry

So what is Freemasonry? Simply put, it's the world's oldest and largest fraternity. Its membership is a Who's Who of world history -- George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Winston Churchill, Mozart, Davy Crockett, Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Houdini, Gerald Ford, Henry Ford, John Wayne, even Colonel Sanders.

If you want to be a Mason, you can petition a local lodge for membership. You'll need to demonstrate good character and belief in some sort of Supreme Being. Oh, and in almost all lodges, it's men only.

Next, you're up for a vote, explains New York State Grand Master James Sullivan. "The lodge votes to accept you, and then you have your three degrees that you go through."

Once you earn "the third degree" (and yes, that's where the phrase comes from), you can join any number of Masonic off-shoots.

Take Brent Morris. He's a 33rd degree Mason and a historian at the House of the Temple for the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite of the Southern Jurisdiction. (It's that big building in Washington, D.C.)

"This isn't like the Masonic Vatican, but it's an important building," said Rocca.

"It's an important building, absolutely right," said Morris. "It's one branch of Freemasonry in the United States, and that's our headquarters."

Inside, the temple lodge room is a stunner. And downstairs, you can see the flag that Buzz Aldrin took to the Moon with him.

Now, if tiny hats and small cars are your thing, there are the party animals of Freemasonry, the Shriners.

You may know them better for their 22 Children's Hospitals, where patients don't have to pay a cent -- the Masons are philanthropic. They reportedly donate $2 million to charity every day.

Freemasonry began in medieval Europe as a guild for stonemasons, but lived on as a social organization. The first grand lodge was created in London in 1717. "Now there are many men in these lodges that are not associated with a trade organization; they're 'gentleman Masons,'" said Morris. "They're not stonecutters."

A modern fraternity had been created.

It wasn't long afterward that those conspiracy theories began.

"All these men with different neighborhoods, different professions meeting in the cafe, breaking bread together, doing rituals -- what could this be?" said UCLA professor Jacob. "So the response on the part of the authorities was, Oh my God, this is a conspiracy!"

And so in 1738 Pope Clement XII issued the Catholic Church's first decree against Freemasonry -- and it still applies today.

In the U.S., Freemasonry flourished until its secrecy made it the object of suspicion here, spawning America's first third party, the Anti-Masonic Party.

It elected eight Congressmen, but lost the 1828 presidential election to Andrew Jackson -- a proud Mason.

Today, Freemasonry has about 1.3 million members in the U.S., down from 4 million in 1959.

Among the members today: African-Americans, formerly relegated to a separate, black-only branch of Freemasonry.

And then there are members like those in Colonial Lodge No. 1821 of Washington, D.C. Most of them are in their twenties, and some were attracted to Freemasonry by Dan Brown novels and movies like "National Treasure."

"Who here was sort of drawn by the mystery?" Rocca asked a group of young Masons.

"I think all of us," they replied.

"I think it's a combination of history [and] tradition," said one.

Another said it was the allure of ritual: "I mean, that's the reason people join Freemasonry and not the Rotarians."

So what about those secrets?

"What would happen if I found out the secret handshake and I weren't a Mason?" Rocca asked. "You wouldn't have to kill me?"

"We might take you out and buy you a beer," said Morris. "The secrets of a Mason represent my integrity as a man. I took a promise that I would not tell you what the secrets of the Mason are. I didn't take a promise that I would care if you know what they are."

Also a big secret : the meetings. No non-Masons, or cameras, are allowed. But St. John's Lodge No. 1 of New York agreed to give us a glimpse of one.

For meetings Masons dress up in their Sunday bests and -- just like the original stonecutters - wear aprons.

At the center of any lodge room is an altar.

"All the activities of the lodge take place about the altar," said Piers Vaughan, the Lodge Master.

"Now, would people talk about religion here in a meeting?" Rocca asked.

"Absolutely not," said Vaughan. "There are certain subjects which are prevented from discussing within the Lodge. And religion is one. Politics is another."

And then there are the ceremonies. Each one teaches a moral lesson related to the legend of one Hiram Abiff, the architect of King Solomon's temple. They can be a little unusual, as pointed out in a recruitment video:

"Even while blindfolded, try to concentrate on what you are asked, what is said to you, and what is happening around you. Everything will be explained to you in later sections of the degree."

"When a candidate comes in through the door, he's blindfolded because, symbolically, he is in a state of darkness," said Vaughan, "because Masonry is all about moving from darkness into Masonic light."

As for what happens after that . . . well, that's a secret. But for members, Freemasonry is about something much simpler.

"I have met a group of men that I enjoy being with," said Morris. "These are people that I go out to dinner with, we socialize together. They're guys I like to hang with. They're my friends."

OUR ZEPHYR ANGELS IN THE KITCHEN

ELIZABETH RETEY CAROLYN MAYER CINDI MARCH SUSAN JOHNSTON

“The difference was like night and day says Worshipful Past Master Bob Skrapka referring to the meals served back in 2004 when the Stewards prepared the food compared to when the Zephyr Angels served their very first dinner. Back then, the pots and pans would sit in the kitchen until after Lodge closed and then the Brothers would have to use chisels to remove the dried food; often getting home around midnight.” Among the very first Angels were Mary Smith and Elizabeth Retez who are still preparing our dinners. And there was also Marsha Caporali (Shorty) and LaRay Jordan. However, it was not until 2006 when Russ Trefethen was Master that he made a comment saying that the Ladies (who were then preparing the meals) were Angels and the name stuck. Ever since then, they have been known as the Zephyr Angels.

So, if history serves us correctly, the Zephyr Angels have been preparing meals for the members of Zephyr Lodge No. 198 for about 10 years now. And no matter how you count it, that adds up to a lot of meals and a lot of happy, well fed Masons.

Brothers, be sure say thank you to all of our current Zephyr Angels the next time you pass down the serving line. We never take our Zephyr Angels for granted. We are extremely grateful to each and every one of these wonderful ladies and for what they do to support our Lodge.

--- And don't forget, the donation is still only $5.00 ---
